Day 2

Glenfinnan

As the train continues west, passing through Fort William – the largest town in the West Highlands – don't miss the views of Ben Nevis, the highest mountain in the UK. Disembark at Arisaig and stroll along the gleaming Morar Sands marvelling at the views of the Isle of Skye's majestic Cuillin Mountains. Lunch is served as the train retraces its route back to Fort William.

From there you'll have the option to join the local guide on a visit to the Glenfinnan Monument, followed by cream tea at the Glenfinnan House Hotel. Alternatively, join a rewilding walk created by the nature restoration partner Scotland, the Big Picture. Starting at a waterfall, on this walk you'll learn from expert rewilding leaders and discover how nature regeneration and community-led restoration are helping this remarkable landscape.

Feeling energetic? Enjoy a moderate walk through the Glen Nevis valley to marvel at the cascading Steall Waterfall. Return to the train in Fort William and relax on board before dinner is served as you travel south towards the tiny Argyll village of Bridge of Orchy. Afterwards, enjoy a nightcap whilst listening to the evening entertainment in the Observation Car.
